WORK EXPERIENCE

English Teacher 3/2020 – Current – Private tuitions at home

- Clearly communicate your expectations for assignments, behaviour, and performance. When students know what's expected, they are more likely to strive for success.
- Break down larger goals into smaller, achievable milestones. Celebrate progress along the way.
- Relate literature and language to their personal experiences. Show them how it's relevant to their lives.
- Apart from their prescribed syllabus I Incorporate texts that resonate with their interests. For example, if a student loves science fiction, explore sci-fi literature together
- Used diverse teaching techniques: lectures, discussions, group activities, multimedia, and hands-on projects.
- Praise hard work, resilience, and effort. Sometimes progress matters more than the final grade.
- Consider a "Student of the Month" or similar recognition to motivate them to do better.

Art Instructor In Pankhuri, 11/2021 – 3/2024

• As an art instructor I took paid online sessions on their mobile app for 1 year, also conducted online summer camp for kids and live sessions on their YouTube channel.

• So, this job gave me an experience of remote teaching.

• Demonstrated painting and drawing techniques to classes of up to 25 students.

Art Teacher, 05/2020 – Current- Self-Employed - Allahabad (Prayagraj)

• Developed and implemented lesson plans to teach art concepts such as perspective, color theory, drawing, painting and sculpting.

• These sessions were individually planned by me.

• I take sessions through zoom where i not only explain the practical and theoretical concepts but also evaluated students work individually.
